

Teaching Climate Change Across Disciplines

with Jim Stock, Mayra Rivera, Lucas Stanczyk, Robert N. Stavins, and Dustin Tingley

In this follow-up to HILT's 2021 Conference, Harvard faculty from STEM and non-STEM disciplines will share how their students learn about climate change through various lenses. James H. Stock, Vice Provost for Climate and Sustainability and the Harold Hitchings Burbank Professor of Political Economy, will provide an overview of climate education at Harvard and serve as moderator of this discussion.
